Eye Sore Dumped; Ire Soars

Six of SIU's socialfraternities may boycott the Spring Festival as a result of a dispute over some missing lumber valued at about $3,000.

For several years the fraternities have been storing lumber used for building Spring Festival booths and Homecoming decorations at a stone house situated south of Small Group Housing, near McLafferty and Reservoir Roads.

William C. Bleyer, assistant coordinator of student activities, said he called one of the houses the last day of classes in the winter term and asked to have the "unsightly mess" cleaned up.

Nothing was done, so he ordered the lumber outside the building removed to a dump south of the campus until a more suitable storage place could be found.

When they returned to the campus, several members of the fraternities checked and found that not only was the lumber outside gone, but some that had been stored in the house was missing.

They said much of the lumber that had been removed to the dump site had been lost because it had fallen into the dump and couldn't be salvaged.

Anthony Blass, director of the Physical Plant, said workers from his department removed the lumber from the outside only, not from the inside.

The Security Office has an investigation under way to determine what happened to the material inside the house.

Jack W. Graham, dean of students, said a permanent or semipermanent area would be provided for future storage of the lumber.

Graham said he was not sure if or how the fraternities would be reimbursed for the lumber, and that they had submitted a detailed list of the material.

At a meeting earlier this week, representatives of the fraternities discussed boycotting the Spring Festival unless they receive compensation for the missing materials. They expect to make a decision late this week.

Trustees Meet Today

The Board of Trustees will hold its April meeting in Chicago today and Friday, to sell $12,000,000 in revenue bonds.

Customarily meeting on either the Carbondale or Edwardsville campuses, the Chicago meeting was arranged to facilitate bid opening and sale of the bonds.

Convocations Will Hear Educator

Harold Taylor, a noted educator, author, former college president and more recently a special consultant to the

HAROLD TAYLOR

Eleanor Roosevelt Memorial Foundation, will speak at Freshman Convocations at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. today in Shryock Auditorium.

Taylor's topic will be "The World of the American Student." He will discuss students' character, how they look at their world, their needs, their hopes and their plans.

Taylor received his Ph.D. from the University of London at the age of 23. Seven years later he became president of Sarah Lawrence College, a position he held for 14 years.

Following his retirement from Sarah Lawrence he traveled in Asia and Russia on a special Ford Foundation grant. While there he conferred with various political leaders, writers, educators, artists and students about the problems of Asian countries.

At the end of his Asian tour he returned to the United States to travel and lecture.

During the last two years Taylor has pioneered a number of educational experiments. Among these have been a pilot project for a war college, at which a student body representing 22 United Nations countries with an international faculty developed a model for a world curriculum. The aim of the experiment was to find ways of uniting the youth of the world in a new world community.

Senate Asks Greek Expansion; Lenzi Slams Administration

YOUNG O'NEILL-Dennis Schlacta plays the role of Edmund Tyrone in O'Neill's "Long Day's Journey Into Night" which opened Wednesday night in the new theater in the Communications

Contemporary Simplicity

O'Neill Tragedy Before Select Audience Opens Players' New 584-Seat Theater

It could have been the premiere of a million-dollar movie in New York, but it was actually the opening performance in SIU's 584-seat theater in the new School of Communications Building.

Wednesday night's performance of Eugene O'Neill's "Long Day's Journey Into Night" to an invited audience of campus dignitaries, theater personnel and other special guests marked the end of the Southern Players' 13-year career in a dilapidated World War II barracks.

The thickly padded seats of the new theater in alternating colors of black, blue, gold and yellow created a contemporary simplicity that added a note of festivity to the formal atmosphere.

The cast of the O'Neill tragedy performed on a stage which extends over the orchestra pit on a rolling platform. The settings, designed by Robert Pevitts, graduate student in theater, are built on casters so they can be moved on and off stage easily.

The first play in the new theater is cast with Peter Goetz as James Tyrone, Robert Wilde as James Tyrone Jr. and Dennis Schlacta in the role of Edmund Tyrone. Marilyn Whitlow and Charlotte Owens will alternate the roles of Mary Tyrone and Cathleen.

The play is directed by Sherwin Abrams, associate professor of theater. Abrams describes the play as a long and difficult one that lasts approximately three hours.

The play will open to the public at 8 p.m. today. It will run through Sunday and again April 14-17.

The box office, located at the south entrance of the Communications Building, is open for ticket sales from 10-11 a.m. and from 3-4 p.m. daily. Tickets are $1.25. All seats are reserved.

Lower Standards Set for Officers

The Campus Senate Wednesday night passed a resolution calling for administration consent for expansion of the social fraternities and sororities system on the Carbondale campus.

The final paragraph of the resolution reads:

"Be it resolved that this body demands an immediate end to the administration's non-expansion policy and condemns this policy and asks the administration to put into effect action to deal with previously mentioned problems."

In a speech made while introducing the bill, General Studies Senator Ray Lenzi accused the administration of "holding a non-expansion policy over the heads" of fraternities and sororities. "In plain terms, this is an anti-Greek attitude," Lenzi said.

In other action, the Senate changed the grade point average requirement to hold office or serve on that body to 3.2 by constitutional amendment. It previously had been 3.5 for officers and 3.2 for Senators.

During discussion on a proposed amendment that would have lowered the requirements to 3.4 for officers and 3.1 for Senators, Fine Arts Senator Bard Grosse was asked why he favored lowering the requirements.

"So I can run for (student body) president," he said. Small Group Housings men's Senator Greg Drinan, whose brother Bob has been mentioned in student government circles as a possible candidate for student body president, said during discussion that Grosse had a 3.453 average.

"Bob has (at least) a 3.5 average," Greg Drinan said, "and he will accept competition."

Gus thinks he's under investigation because he doesn't have a car, didn't falsify his ID card, hasn't been guzzling, hasn't applied for a loan and isn't on disciplinary probation.

Summer Job Employees Sought

Representatives of four companies will be visiting the campus to interview students for summer employments.

The Green Giant Co. of Belvidere will be represented on campus today. Interested students should contact Brune Bierman or Bob Julius at the Student Work Office.

Students interested in summer employment with the Jewel Tea Co. should contact Bierman or Leonard Lukasik before Saturday. The company offers basic sales and business experience and a variety of work, much of it outdoors.

Scholarship awards are given to summer workers for outstanding achievement. Also, the summer worker is allowed to choose any location in the 44 states served by the company.

The Dow Metal Co. of Madison is interested in students for both inside and outside labor. The wage is $2.80 an hour, including an allowance for living expenses.

Interested students should contact Bierman or Lukasik before April 15.

Sophomores or juniors majoring in plant industries or agriculture-economics are being sought by the industrial and biochemical departments of the DuPont Co.

The summer jobs are in Illinois and will pay all expenses. A student must be in good standing with the University to participate in this summer program.

A representative of DuPont will be on campus April 15. Interested students should contact Bierman or Lukasik before April 14.

Campus Poll On Student Life Slated

A questionnaire containing 100 questions on every service the University performs for students and every phase of student life will be given to students beginning at 8 a.m. April 18.

The questionnaires, which will be administered in the classroom, are being given at the suggestion of a committee of students and faculty members which has been making a study of the involvement of students with the University in matters which directly affect them.

By administering the questionnaires in class, the committee hopes to get a comprehensive survey of student opinion on questions ranging from housing to registration and Textbook Service, according to E. Claude Coleman, professor of English and chairman of the committee.

Daniel C. Heldman is in charge of distributing the questionnaires to all the academic departments and picking up the answer sheets.

Board Should OK Fee for Athletics

The fate of the proposed increase in activity fees now rests with the Board of Trustees, which is meeting today and Friday in Chicago.

No action on the proposal is listed on the formal agenda but the measure still could come before the board, according to Chairman Kenneth Davis of Harrisburg.

We urge the Board of Trustees to approve the measure

Dodging Act Is Confused With Dissent

Worse than being a disgraceful act, the recent arrest of 38 youths and fathers in the FBI's biggest arrest of draft dodgers strikes a blow to the mechanism that makes our society go—civic obligation.

Civic obligation, a high sounding phrase, is a necessity in a free society. America has no Gestapo, NKVD, Auschwitz or Siberia to use to force conscription into the army. If America is to have an army, the citizens must be willing to fight when called up.

By paying bribes to avoid the draft, the 38 arrested "citizens" are displaying lack of responsibility that, if held by the majority of the population, would spell death for the U.S.

These draft dodgers are not to be confused with the people who want to see the U.S. get out of Viet Nam. There is a significant difference between the draft dodger who is trying to avoid his responsibility and the citizen who disagrees with his country's actions, on moral or religious grounds.

Little sympathy can be accorded anyone who is so selfish that he enjoys the freedom his country offers him, but refuses to own up to the responsibility that accompanies that freedom.

Editorial in Michigan State News

'AN' THEN I SAW 'BOUT A DOZEN AH THOSE UNIDENTIFIED FLYING' THINGS'

Tom Price, Michigan State News

in the light of its earlier approval by the student body and the Campus Senate.

The students voted for the proposed $4 increase, and it is from their pockets that the additional revenue will come.

The bill, among other things, would allow free admission for students to the Arena and McAndrew Stadium for athletic events and would provide about 130 NCAA scholarships for athletes.

Various opinions pro and con concerning the measure were voiced at the time of the referendum and its introduction before the Campus Senate. Although few, if any, administrators concerned explicitly stated that it would allow Southern to go "major college" in sports, such a result seems inherent in the increase.

The scholarships are a necessary prerequisite to entry into the major college ranks. Southern cannot really expect to attract good high school and junior college athletes without such a program.

If Southern is to maintain its prominence in sports such as basketball and gymnastics and improve its standing in others like football, passage of the proposed increase by the Board of Trustees is essential.

Newspaper Advises

Jump on Wagon, Students, Or You'll Become Drunks

Editor's note: The following editorial was printed in the Sparta News-Plainedealer. It was based on a series of feature stories carried in the Daily Egyptian last month.

A lot of common drunks and many skid row denizens are going to stagger off of the campuses of a lot of colleges and universities if some something isn't done to curb student drinking.

Right at our own doorstep, according to the Daily Egyptian, student newspaper at Southern Illinois University, student drinking is becoming a problem. The paper has been printing a series of articles regarding drinking habits of students and, if the reports are true, taking care of drunks is getting to be a problem.

Students under the age of 21 are going to extremes to falsify identification cards so they can buy liquor as adults. City and campus police are having their troubles. Forging draft cards and altering driver's license cards is getting to be a business on campus, as certain students make changes for a price.

The student body president, George Paluch, appealed to students to improve their behavior on Illinois Central trains taking them home for spring vacation. He had just met with University and railroad representatives in an effort to solve the problem.

A railroad executive told the group that excessive drinking, serious vandalism and a gross lack of respect for the rights of other passengers on the train produce a negative student image.

The problem, the railroad representative said, is only with SIU students and there is no problem with University of Illinois students homeward bound after exams.

It is but natural there will be some drinking among some 16,000 students on one campus, but among the things young men and women need to learn is to learn to say "No." Otherwise, this will soon become a nation of "old soaks."

... YEAH, IT'S TOUGH! WHAT'S YOUR TROUBLE, MAC?

Committee to Discuss Problem Of Mutilation, Theft of Books

To the editor:

The library administration welcomes the student petition about book losses as a hopeful sign, although we could have wished for a larger number of signers. An aroused student body could do more to mitigate the evil than an arsenal of library security weapons, for it would generate a better climate for enforcement to operate in.

The petition contains some criticisms and suggestions that merit serious consideration. But it also seems to imply that the library is unaware of the situation and is therefore the chief villain of the piece. Only passing mention is made of the real culprit (who really ought to be called something stronger than a "pilferer") and none at all of book mutilation, an even more wanton and pathological offense.

Libraries the country over are beset with the twin problems of theft and mutilation. One of the solutions sometimes proposed is a return to closed stacks; for open stacks, like an open society, depend on a responsible citizenry that is concerned with self enforcement of its honor code. Security can be tightened, of course; but every turn of the screw pinches the honorable as well as (or more than) the dishonest.

The library administration would like to discuss the problem with representatives of the petitioners and other influential groups. The matter will be an early agenda item for the University's first library committee when it has been established and selected by the Faculty Council. It will be recommended to them that penalties for these offenses be stiffened and given wide publicity.

The committee will also be urged to use its good offices to enlist wider cooperation from the faculty about sending advance notice to the library when there are to be reading assignments to large classes, so that we can protect the titles involved and help the students by putting photocopies on reserve.

Gymnasts Deserve Acclaim

To the editor:

Southern's gymnastics team has achieved what every other athletic team strives for, a national championship.

Southern has the top gymnastics team and coaches in the country and we gymnastics fans are extremely proud of their accomplishment. They are to be commended for the work and effort they put forth to win the title.

I cannot understand, however, why the student body has not accorded the team the enthusiasm that it justly deserves. If the football or basketball team achieved the same distinction, we would practically have a school holiday.

I feel that we should be extremely proud of the fact that Mayor Miller and the city government showed their interest in the team's accomplishment by providing city police and a fire truck to escort the team from the airport. The mayor took time out to personally greet them at the airport.

Where were the University officials from the school the team represented? I only recall seeing Donald N. Boydston at the airport. I believe this says a lot for improving relations with the city government.

Also, there were only about 100 students at the airport. Where the rest of the students when the national championship team arrived?

I only hope that we give our support to the women's gymnastics team in the championships at the Arena this weekend, and when they win, we give them and the men's team the acclaim they justly deserve.

Effort Is The Way To Goals

To the editor:

George H. Bridges Jr. wrote in the March 16 issue that the motto "Deo Volente..." can be interpreted that the individual student may pass his course, receive a degree, or even succeed in adult life with no real effort expended upon his part provided that God is willing.

Perhaps it could be, but it should not be. For God's nature does not condone a lack of real effort; it commands (to use Mr. Bridges' words) "a real expenditure of effort upon the part of each individual student," if he desires to pass his course, to receive his degree, to succeed in adult life.

These words are attributed to God in Proverbs 6:6-8: Go to the ant, thou sluggard; consider her ways, and be wise: which having no guide, overseer, or ruler, provideth her meat in the summer, and gathereth her food in the harvest.

In other words, Don't be a sluggard; don't lack effort.

Do as the hard-working ant does; expend real effort to achieve your goals.

Memorable Were the Days Before Automated Registration

By Joan Solomon

Registration just isn't what it used to be.

The crowds, the lines, the noise, the dread feeling of uncertainty — automation's done away with all that now.

Sophomores and freshmen think it's always been the way it was this term, with pre-enrollment, preregistration, early adds and drops, short fast-moving lines. But there are still a few of us who remember what it used to be like.

We remember hiking over to the Men's Intramural Gymnasium, smile on our faces, clutching a time schedule, catalog and lots of paper for scribbling out hastily revised schedules.

It took three days then, and the IM steps were always packed with students waiting alphabetically for their time.

And the lines and the waiting, filling out the packet of IBM cards by leaning on the back of the person standing in front of you — this, too, we remember.

After a few terms you began to make friends with the people whose student numbers ended in the same digit yours did. Now the signs read, "All Student Numbers Go Here," and you don't bother to stop and chat any more.

The main registration arena was the best part of all. It combined the gay, noisy atmosphere of a circus and the tense drama of a courtroom. It would not have seemed at all unnatural to hear the booming voice of a man in a red and yellow checked shirt shouting, "Step right up folks! HURRY, HURRY, HURRY! Only six more class cards left for Entomology 401."

There were the crowds, pushing and shoving; the desperate running around the room, your eyes scanning the walls searching for a certain department. And then when you finally found it, there was that queasy feeling in your stomach as you looked to find out whether your section was still open.

In the early days of registering, you could argue with professors at the various department tables when you couldn't get in a certain section. Now you can only curse the computer.

Who could forget revising your schedule at 4:45 p.m. on the last day of registration, and how you would wind up enrolling in Poultry Science 224 even though you were an English major because it was the only course that fit in your time schedule.

And there were always one or two coeds who would feel so helpless they would cry.

But all that has changed now. Today we pre-enroll, preregister and get cards three weeks in advance that let us know whether or not we got all our classes. The automation that's put leisure into our lives has taken the trauma, the thrill and the tense excitement out of registering.

It's all very efficient and dull now. You hardly ever see anyone cry any more.

What to Do After College? Many Coeds Face Problem

Many coeds are facing the problem of what will happen to them when they get out of school. Here's what four coeds have to say on the subject in the current issue of Moderator, the national college magazine.

Demi Rewick, who attends the University of Redlands in Redlands, Calif., voices the questions and fears of most coeds when she says, "What am I fit for?"

"Perhaps I can stick stamps on envelopes. I certainly can't type fast enough to be a secretary. Perhaps I should have gone to business school instead of studying Thoreau. Perhaps."

"But Thoreau is now a part of me. I am an individual. I attempt to understand the individual, but find it complex. I must keep trying. Without this I end up in front of a TV set some day watching 'As the World Turns' with an antenna-head full of curlers. This is my greatest fear."

A more positive view of the problem is taken by Jeanie Comber, who attends Wilson College in Chambersburg, Pa.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. James L. Goddard, commissioner of food and drugs, has alerted college and university officials to "a dangerous increase in the illicit use by students" of hallucinatory and stimulant drugs.

Goddard sent a letter to deans of men and women, campus housing administrators and heads of science departments at more than 2,000 colleges and universities and to other officials directly concerned with the problem.

He urged their help in fighting this "insidious and dangerous activity."

"We are faced with a most hazardous situation," Goddard wrote. "Unless strong concerted action is taken, an untold number of our students may suffer permanent mental and physical injury."

Reports to the Food and Drug Administration during the past year indicate, he said, a marked increase in the illegal use of both hallucinogenic and stimulant drugs throughout the nation particularly around educational institutions.

"There is direct evidence of widespread availability of a number of drugs which have profound effects on the mental processes," Goddard said.

"Both students and members of the faculty are being secretly approached to engage in hallucinogenic 'experiences.'"

He said LSD-25, Psilocybin and Mescaline are the hallucinogenic drugs most commonly found in illegal use. He said all produce essentially the same effects—hallucinations, serious mental changes, psychotic manifestations, nervous breakdowns and suicidal tendencies.

LSD-25 presents the greatest threat and is dangerous in exceedingly small amounts. As little as 100 micrograms, Goddard said, can produce hallucinations lasting for hours or days. One gram—a fraction of an ounce—can provide 10,000 doses.

In testimony before a House subcommittee on appropriations, which was not released until this week, Federal Nar-

"privilege of self-expression, and should be able to experiment."

"Our files, of course, are full of cases involving violence and other acts performed by these people when they are under the influence of narcotics," he said.

Giordano said his agency had held one seminar on the dangers of drugs with college administrators in Philadelphia and was planning others cotics Commissioner Henry L. Giordano charged that the problem of drug parties on college campuses is made more difficult because some educators refuse to crack down.

"We have had a problem in just about every one of the major universities in our country in marijuana," he told subcommittee hearing March 7.

"Fortunately you will not run into any heroin. It is amphetamines, hallucinogenic drugs, tranquilizers and drugs of that sort," said Giordano.

"This is quite disturbing because we find in some cases some of the educators themselves are not frowning upon the use of marijuana and some of the other dangerous drugs."

Some college officials, he said, had indicated that persons should have the

on a regional basis throughout the country.

Rep. Tom Steed, D-Okla., asked the commissioner if he thought there was any relationship between the students' use of undesirable drugs and "the increasing amount of this beatnik and kookie type of activity on our campus — so-called 'demonstrating' against the old order."

"I do not know how close it is," Giordano said. But he added that reports to the bureau of campus drug experimentation indicated lowered morals and "unpredictable actions of these people when they are under the influence of marijuana."

Besides college students, Giordano said, even hard-core addicts are turning to the more readily accessible barbiturates because of a shortage of heroin and other illicit narcotics.

The federal campaign against illegal drug traffic has created such a shortage that peddlers have been forced to dilute their dwindling supplies with other powders — thus weakening the "kick" for addicts.

He reported that the number of new dope addicts fell from a reported 10,012 in 1964 to 6,012 last year. The decline was caused in part by the increasing scarcity and rising prices of narcotics, he said.

Giordano said the price in New York for a kilo of heroin had jumped from $12,000 in 1961 to $23,000 today.

Bureau statistics showed that of the total 57,199 active addicts reported last Dec. 31, 77.7 per cent were in 10 cities — New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Detroit, Washington, D.C., Philadelphia, Baltimore, San Diego, Newark, N.J. and San Antonio, Tex.

Of the total active addicts, 29,482 were Negro and 27,321 were white. Men accounted for 47,061 of the addicts and the majority were in the 21-40 age bracket.

No Drug Problem At SIU: Zaleski

Joseph F. Zaleski, coordinator and assistant dean of student affairs, said there are several such letters in circulation on campus but reiterated his belief that drugs are not a problem at SIU.

perceptive man and be perceptive herself; education itself doesn't mean that much. Now that almost everybody goes to college there are an awful lot of stupid well-educated men wandering around. Education is what you make of it, not what it makes of you."

Mary Schnackenberg, who goes to Pacific Lutheran University in Tacoma, Wash., also feels that getting an education should not mean that women become unfeminine.

"We have confused education and training and have substituted the latter for the former," she said. "We have thought that the development of the intellect implies the loss of femininity, and have become masculine. Instead of applying out intelligence to developing ourselves as greater women, we have striven to become more like men."

"We compete with men and consider it a victory to be treated as their equals. I, however, want to be a woman and strongly believe that intellectual awareness and depth can improve the feminine elements of our culture, not just negate them."

The willingness to work and become what you want while still staying feminine is the ideal as far as Harriet Richardson, who attends Juniata College in Huntingdon, Pa., is concerned.

"Girls are more serious than men," she says. "They plod along better, and get the little essential things done. The only hang-up for a well educated woman is that she has to marry a man at least as well educated."

European Seminar in Design Deadline Extended to May 1

Persons who wish to make the tour without credit may travel with the group without paying University summer session fees, Miss Padgett said. This arrangement opens the tour to area residents who are not students.

Tour participants will see architecture, interiors and museums in Spain, Italy, France, Holland, Denmark and Sweden, Miss Padgett said. Arrangements have been made for registration for the European seminar in interior design, June 16-July 9, has been extended to May 1, according to Rose Padgett, chairman of the Department of Clothing and Textiles, made for the group to meet award-winning designers, study the great periods in art and architecture, and become acquainted with contemporary design concepts in may of the European centers.

Cap-Tassel to Meet

Cap and Tassel will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Magnolia Lounge of the University Center.

The seminar will be directed by Jane Kelly Shearer, chairman of the Interior Design Department from the University of Maryland.

Cost of the study tour is $1,197 with students enrolling in the seminar for credit also paying the appropriate SIU summer registration fees. Leaving New York June 16 by economy jet airline, the group will return July 9.

SPEAKER—Willard H. Bixby, president of the American Device Manufacturing Co., will speak at a meeting of the Society for the Advancement of Management at 7:30 p.m. today in Studio Theatre at University School.

Viet Truce, Oil Ban Called for by Thant

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant said Wednesday that the United States and Red China should guarantee the status of a unified and neutral Viet Nam.

Answering questions for 45 minutes, Thant said he saw prospects for a mandatory U.N. economic boycott of white-supremacist Rhodesia to crush its five-month-old rebellion against Britain.

The optional oil embargo that the Security Council requested of all countries last Nov. 20 has been weakened by shipments from South Africa. A Greek tanker is in Mozambique waters and there are fears it may unload oil into a pipeline to Rhodesia in defiance of a British sea watch on the port.

"I am increasingly concerned about the developments in Southern Rhodesia," Thant said. "I also understand that the British government is actively considering further measures to give effect to its policies, and even economic sanctions under Chapter 7 cannot be ruled out."

Chapter 7 of the U.N. Charter empowers the Security Council, whenever any country threatens international peace, to make a decision binding on all U.N. members.

Thant said both the United States and mainland China had strategic interests in the South Pacific, including Viet Nam.

"I have all along believed that Viet Nam could be an independent and nonaligned country as it was envisaged in the Geneva agreements of 1954. If we accept the agreements arrived at the Geneva conference of 1954, it means a unified Viet Nam," he said.

"To bring peace to Viet Nam its independence and non-alignment should be the objective of all parties primarily concerned in the conflict, and should preferably be guaranteed by the big powers, including Peking and the U.S."

Thant said he was among the first to endorse French President Charles de Gaulle's proposal of three years ago for a conference to make Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia all nonaligned.

29 Pregnancies Result In Frozen Sperm Trial

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The possibility that the sperm of a genius such as Beethoven may be preserved to enrich future generations was voiced Wednesday by a biologist who said 29 women had been made pregnant by male sperm frozen for up to 21 1/2 years.

Dr. S. J. Behrman, director of the University of Michigan's Center for Research in Reproductive Biology, made the remarks to a meeting of the Michigan Society of Obstetricians and Gynecologists.

Emphasizing that his work with frozen sperm was preliminary, Behrman said, "The day when we can preserve the sperm of an Einstein or a Beethoven for reproduction in future centuries still is a long way off. Someday it should be possible to produce a child with exactly the characteristics desired. But that won't be tomorrow."

Behrman said the most recent phase of his work concerned a study in which 44 women received frozen sperm and 18 of them became pregnant.

In this phase, eight women bore children, six still are pregnant, and four lost their babies.

Behrman said the eight children show no defects traceable to the frozen sperm and added that the four miscarriages were not believed caused by the impregnation since the women previously had miscarried.

Birth Control Session Set For June

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul's enlarged birth control commission will hold a crucial plenary session in June to draw up a report of its views—and possibly recommendations—on artificial contraceptive devices long banned for Roman Catholics.

This was learned Wednesday from sources close to Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani, named by Pope Paul VI last month to direct the newly expanded commission.

Plans call for bringing all 73 members of the commission together early in June for their first plenary meeting, the sources said. That would enable Pope Paul to speak publicly on the birth control issue later in the month.

The commission includes theologians, medical doctors, psychologists, psychiatrists, sociologists and a few married couples.

Last June 24, Pope Paul publicly urged the commission to hasten its work.

Cardinal Ottaviani, whose regular job is prefect of the Vatican's Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, has been reluctant to express any opinion on contraceptive pills or what the commission might recommend about them.

The cardinal is said, however, to have told the commission's experts to put before the plenary commission summaries of the latest scientific studies on the pills.

The cardinal is a leading conservative who became the symbol of that camp during the 1962-1965 Vatican Ecumenical Council. He is known to have shifted his thinking somewhat in recent months, however.

American prelates expected here in June for the birth control commission meeting are Archbishop Leo Binz of St. Paul, Minn.—who was president of the small body before Cardinal Ottaviani—Lawrence Cardinal Shehan of Baltimore, Md., and Archbishop John J. Dearden of Detroit.

Scott Reports Fund Surplus

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—State Treasurer William J. Scott said Wednesday the Illinois general revenue fund has a surplus of $155 million.

The previous high, he said, was $197 million in 1947.

Scott repeated his previous assertions that a special session of the legislature would not be needed to raise taxes.

In addition to the general revenue fund surplus, Scott said, at the end of March a surplus of $80 million existed in the road fund.

The treasurer said additional surpluses of about $85 million in agricultural premium and service recognition accounts raised the surpluses in state funds to more than a quarter billion dollars.

Scott said this does not include surpluses of $24 million earned on investments by him of state university and mental health building bonds during the construction period.

Scott contended this earning surplus may be used despite Gov. Otto Kerner's objection that it could not be used for state purposes. Scott said he would ask the 1967 legislature to authorize such use.

'THERE MUST BE SOMETHING OPTIMISTIC.'

Compulsory Trade Ban Considered by Britain

LONDON (AP)—Britain advised 20 Commonwealth states Wednesday it is considering a compulsory world trade ban on rebellious Rhodesia.

A decision on this major shift in British policy may hang on the outcome of current efforts by private Greek, Rhodesian, South African and Portuguese interests to breach the voluntary oil embargo imposed on Rhodesia by the U.N. Security Council.

Beira is the focal point. The port in Portuguese-ruled Mozambique serves as landlocked Rhodesia's oil terminal.

There the Greek tanker, Joanna V, lies anchored, ready to unload her cargo of up to 18,000 tons of crude oil. This could keep the minority white, of Rhodesia, who grabbed independence from Britain last November, going for two weeks.

Joanna V is owned by Greeks and is under charter to the South African firm of A. G. Morrison of Cape Town. The British are applying the diplomatic pressure to keep the tanker from unloading.

British readiness to invoke the U.N. charter-making sanctions compulsory and subsequent enforcement action likely—was described authoritatively as being highly conditional.

Military Cuts Pork Use To Combat Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP)—High prices have led the military services to cut their use of prime pork products in half, the Defense Department said Wednesday.

The Pentagon disclosed that a memorandum ordering the reduction went out Feb. 17 to the Army, Navy, Air Force and the Defense Supply Agency which procures goods for the services.

The memorandum directed the services to reduce by 50 per cent the number of servings of such pork products as bacon, ham and chops for the next six months. This applies only to U.S. military installations.

The services were told to use such items as poultry, eggs, sausage, turkey, seafood and selected beef items more often to minimize the impact of military food purchases on consumer prices.

Last month, the Pentagon directed the Army and Air Force to stop buying butter and switch to margarine.

Butter had risen to about 70 cents a pound while the Defense Department could get margarine at 16 cents a pound.

A Defense Supply Agency spokesman said it would be difficult to estimate what savings will result from the prime pork switch because any of several other items may be substituted in the military ration.

But the agency provided figures showing that the price it pays for bacon went up 65 per cent between 1964 and 1965.

The agency, a sort of wholesaler of common use items for the services, paid about 35 cents a pound for bacon the last six months of 1964. During the same period last year it paid more than 58 cents a pound.

Down With Spring

Cry MOMMA for Manhood To Strike Blow for Freedom

By Ed Rapetti

Spring, that eternal rebirth of life after the frigid gloom of winter, has sprung—by the calendar at any rate.

The continued cold weather is making it difficult for the young man's fancy to turn to thoughts of love, as the poet would have it.

It's even more difficult if you're a young man with a family.

Somehow the sweet fragrance of jonquils and the twitter of the early bird has lost its romantic flavor when the rent is overdue and the baby's got the colic.

It takes a special kind of man to lift his sleepy head early on a bright spring Saturday when he knows the garbage has to be taken out, the car has to be washed and wifey has to be driven to market.

Ah me, what happened to the carefree days of spring when all that mattered was that the day be sunny and the air fresh and sweet? Who cared whether the holes in my socks were getting larger or that there were only three bucks in my pocket to last out the week?

Now there's vitamins and pabulum and new shoes the baby needs. And my wife, that sweet girl who used to spend the whole afternoon with me walking in the park or swimming in the lake, needs a new dress and an Easter hat and God knows what else. And my old suit, hanging in the closet getting a little threadbare and knowing it has to last yet another year, hangs on.

Yeh, and I'm hanging on, too. I remember those "care-free" days of spring could be awfully lonely. The poet said the young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love. Unless there happened to be a young lady handy with the same thoughts, it could be mighty frustrating there amid the honeysuckle and tweeting birds.

Yeh, the poets go off the deep end when they sing the praises of youth and spring but they don't say too much about what comes after the young man's fancy has turned to thoughts of love.

Cows Also Win Awards for SIU

The Illinois Guernsey Breeders' Association has made two awards to the SIU Dairy Center for outstanding record, according to Howard H. Olson, associate professor of animal industries.

The first award is a certificate of recognition for a herd average of over 10,000 pounds of milk each for the Guernsey cows in the herd.

The second is a certificate citation for one of the Guernsey cows, Pre-Eminent Sunny Velma, for producing 16,530 pounds of milk and 761 pounds of fat in a 305-day lactation period.

Both awards are listed in the American Jersey Cattle Club's printed list of 1965 production leaders, says Olson.

It begins innocently enough. The young man in love is blind to all the little barbs that fly along with Cupid's golden arrow.

Such things as mothers-in-law, car payments, and dentist and doctor bills don't enter his mind when on a balmy spring afternoon he lets slip those fatal words—"I love you. Be my wife."

That's when the fun begins.

His life is no longer his own and doesn't the little wife let him know it? The sweetest, palest rose of American womanhood is instantly transformed into a snapdragon—three seconds after her chump says "I do."

The time has come for men to rebel against noxious spring and its pernicious effects on American youth. It's time to sit down and protest this unfair weapon that women use to their advantage in the battle of the sexes.

Men of America arise! Ignore the warm spring breezes, the song of the dangerous robin and the early morning dew. Join the Men's Organization of March to May Antagonists—cry MOMMA and crush spring before it saps America of its most vital asset—the freedom of manhood.

Rosenberg to Be Resident Artist

Harold Rosenberg, New York art critic, author and professor, will be on campus during the last two weeks of April and all of May as a part of SIU's artists-in-residence program.

While at Southern, Rosenberg will lecture, conduct seminars and be one of the two judges in the outdoor center art fair and sale May 28.

Rosenberg has been a contributor to the Kenyon Review, Commentary, Art News, Dis-sent and Saturday Review. He has articles appear in the New York Times Book Review, New Yorker, Vogue and Esquire.

Some of the books he has written are "Trance Above The Street," "Ashville Gorky" and the "Anxious Ob-ject."

Coed for President? It's OK by Students

By Margaret Perez

If a woman can drive a truck or manage a business or make a speech just like a man, she can be a president — just like a man, or perhaps better.

This was the opinion of the majority of students in a series of interviews on the question, "Could a girl be student body president?"

"I have no objection to a girl president," said Robert P. Vandever, a married student from Marion. "I'm a firm believer in equal rights. In fact, I even think my wife could be capable of the job."

"We're an openminded university," proclaims Roger W. Nolan, an economics major from Columbus, Ohio. "Why not have a girl president? Of course, she would have to have experience in student government, but then, so would a guy."

What better authority on the student body presidency could there be than the student body president himself? George J. Paluch, nearing the completion of one term as president, said, "Sure a girl can be president. But she's got to be hard-working, loyal and trustworthy."

When asked if he could think of a female acquaintance capable of the office, he said (after a long pause), "Not off

Visiting Lecturer To Head Seminar

"Cellular Pathogenesis of Vesicular Exanthema Virus" will be the topic of a visiting lecturer who will speak at 10 a.m. today in Room G-16 of the Life Science Building.

Yuan Chung Zee, of the University of California, will talk to the seminar of the Department of Microbiology.

Zee is on the staff of the Virology Division of the Naval Biological Laboratory in the School of Public Health at the university.

Dean Will Attend Chicago Meeting

Julian Lauchner, dean of the School of Technology, will attend a meeting of the Illinois Association of Professions Thursday in Chicago.

Lauchner was named to the board of the association for a two-year term early this year. Purpose of the organization is to stimulate leadership by professional men in public service activities.

hand, I guess there must be at least one on campus .... There's got to be."

Paluch agreed that a prospective candidate for the presidency must be experienced in student government.

"However, I believe we're gradually getting more girls involved in campus politics. Right now, five of the 22 senators are girls."

The only objection to a girl as student body president came, strangely enough, from a girl.

"A girl is too emotional to be a president. Maybe as vice president she would work out," said Pamela M. Cunningham, an elementary education major from Lisle.

Elizabeth Hill, from Carbondale, who is majoring in art, believes that a woman is just as capable as a man of holding the high campus office.

"I think that eventually the students would look up to a girl as a leader just as they look up to a man as a leader," she said.

"Why not?" said Marleen E. Nelson, apparently shocked at the question.

"What is wrong with a girl? Sure, the school would get talked about, but we've been talked about before. We've got to be realistic. A girl is just as good, or better, than a guy in most respects."

Miss Nelson is from Chicago, and is majoring in English. Stephen A. Flenner, from Alton, who is majoring in accounting, summed up the feelings of most students when he said, "It takes the right girl just like it takes the right guy. I can't think of the right girl just now, but then again, I can't think of the right guy either."

SPRING, WHERE ART THOU?—A strolling couple huddle as chilly weather continues to delay the onset of greenery in Thompson Woods. The weatherman says balmy weather is just around the corner.

Glee Club Tryouts to Begin Tuesday

Tryouts for the University Male Glee Club will begin Tuesday in Room 115, Altgeld Hall.

The auditions to select Glee Club members for 1966-67 are open to men of sophomore, junior or senior standing. Men with less than 48 quarter hours are ineligible.

The ability to read music or previous musical training are not necessary for membership.

Questions concerning the Glee Club can be answered by Jerry Compton or Robert W. Kingsbury, in the University Chorus Office.

Glee Club will receive one hour credit.

Tryouts will be held from 9:45 to 10:30 p.m. Tuesday, 6:45 to 8 p.m. April 14, 4 to 5 p.m. April 15, 9:45 to 10:30 p.m. April 19 and 4 to 5 p.m. April 22.

Bulletin Ready On Draft Test

Only 410 information bulletins concerning the Selective Service College Qualification Test have been distributed since April 1. Mrs. Jean Mihm, Selective Service secretary for Registrar's office, expressed surprise at this low number.

"Frankly, we expected more," she said. The bulk of inquiries came from the freshman class. When asked what weight the scores would carry with the local boards, she said that they could only help the person.

All Selective Service registrants are eligible to take the test. The scores will provide the local boards with evidence of aptitude for continued college work.

The procedure to follow begins with obtaining the information bulletin and application from Mrs. Mihm. Application for the test must be postmarked no later than April 23.

A ticket of admission will then be returned to the applicant. Tests will be administered by the Testing Center on May 14, 21 and June 3.

Chemistry Seminar Set

Hu-Chu Tsai, graduate student in chemistry, will present a seminar on "Hitrile Oxides" at 4 p.m. Friday in Room 204 of the Parkinson Laboratory.

Female Saluki Gymnasts Boast 50 Records Set in 3 Years

By Bob Reincke

The 12 girls who will be representing Southern at this weekend's Collegiate Open in the Arena have probably amassed as many individual honors as—or probably more than,—any other athletic team on campus.

Even considering the past three years, the 12-girl defending national champions have a total of more than 50 records to show.

Cocaptains Donna Schaezner and Irene Haworth along with Gail Daley probably lead the list of record holders.

Miss Schaezner, who as a junior is the veteran of the squad, has been captain since the team was formed in 1963. She has received the Kennedy Memorial Award for outstanding performance in each of her three years at SIU.

In addition she won the intercollegiate all-around and tumbling championships last year besides being runnerup in the United States Gymnastics Federation (USGF) all-around competition.

She also competed in the East-West All-Star meet last year and has participated on a number of teams in international competition.

The other cocaptain, Irene Haworth, has placed on a number of teams in international competition for her native Canada since 1962, even though she is only a sophomore at SIU. She also finished second to teammate Gail Daley for the Canadian all-around championship a year ago.

Miss Daley's honors as a gymnast include being named the "Canadian Athlete of the Year" in 1965. The petite five-foot blonde has been the all-around champion of our northern neighbor for the past four years and represented that country in the 1964 Olympics. She also is the defending USGF champion in six events in addition to being on a number of Canadian teams in international competition.

Freshman Judy Willis ranks as one of the tops in the world as a tumbler and trampolinist. Starting as a gymnast when she was only 5 years old, Miss Willis has won the world trampoline championship for the past two years and the world tumbling championship last year. She has lost only three times in the last three years, and each time it was to teammate Nancy Smith.

Miss Smith, a freshman from Sycamore, was the USGF trampoline champion in 1963 and 1964 and finished third in that event in the world championships last year.

Another team veteran, Janis Dunham, was last year's USGF champion on the balance beam. Miss Dunham also qualified for the Olympic team in 1964, but could not compete in the final trials because of an injury.

The only other veteran on

the team is Mary Ellen Toth. Like Miss Dunham, Miss Toth hails from Flint, Mich. She missed most of the second half of the season last year, but still managed to rank as the Midwest floor exercise champion and finished fifth in the intercollegiate all-around competition.

Sherry Kosek, Marilyn Tripp and Linda Scott.

Primarily responsible for turning out the host of champions Southern boasts is Coach Herb Vogel. In his three years at SIU, Vogel's teams have never been defeated, racking up a record of 27-0.

The coach is also confident of another victory in the Open this year if his girls come through with their usual good performances.

Rounding out the 12-girl roster are newcomers Lori Wessa, Carole Nawojski,

Southern Golfers Enter Intercollegiate Tourney

The varsity golfers will compete today and Friday in the Intercollegiate Tournament at Springfield, Mo.

Four teams from Missouri entering are the host team, Southwest Missouri State, and Lincoln, Central Missouri and William Jewell.

Murray (Ky.) State will also be in competition.

SIU will have six golfers competing on its team, with Jack Downey as the leading man. He has a 3-2 match record so far this season. A junior from Mount Vernon, Downey has shot two 72-hole matches.

Team captain Tom Muehleman of Alton has a 2-2-1 record, as does Gary Robinson, Sterling.

Muehleman is the only returning regular on the squad.

Phil Stamison, Chicago, is the No. 4 man, with a 1-3-1 match record.

He is followed by Jim Schonehoff, Quincy, who has a 2-3 record.

Steve Heckel, Carterville, has not seen competition yet. He is replacing Mike Coale in the No. 6 position.

The golfers were idle last week. This will be their first play since spring break.

They compiled an 0-5 record during the vacation but several of the losses were only marginal.

Robinson and Downey have the best individual match averages, 76.4.

An overall team winner will be decided at the two-day tournament, and individual records will also be kept.

SIU has already met one of the teams entered in the tournament, Murray State.

The Murray State golfers defeated the Salukis in a 14.5 to 12.5 match held on March 24 at Kentucky Dam, Ky.

SIU will be host to Washington University on Thursday, and to Southeast Missouri on April 19, in the first home matches.

The golfers use the 18-hole course of Crab Orchard Golf Club, west of Carterville, for home meets and practice.

SIU Nine Seeks to Top .500 In 3 Weekend Tulsa Games

SIU's baseball team takes an 8-9 record on the road this week in hopes of returning with a better than .500 mark.

After earning a home mark of 3-1, Southern will take on Tulsa in a single game Friday and a doubleheader Saturday.

After a ragged Texas tour, Coach Joe Lutz's squad seems to have settled down somewhat, despite a lopsided 17-7 loss to Central Michigan Monday in which they gave a Little League performance. They bounced back in the second contest to take a 1-0 verdict.

Wayne Sramek, Don Kirkland, Jim Panther and Bill

Liskey have all performed well on the mound, with the hitting coming through at the right spots.

Lutz figures to stay with his nearly all-junior lineup in Tulsa. With the experience to be gained in a packed schedule, the Salukis figure to improve in every department.

Hoban Is Elected Pledge President

John E. Hoban has been elected president of the pledge class of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, Zeta Nu chapter.

Wisconsin's Suit Brought to Head

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Wisconsin brought its antitrust suit against baseball to a climax Wednesday with a dramatic demonstration that it would prefer a common-sense solution to a hollow legal victory.

Willard Stafford, special counsel for the state's attorney general, said in final argument that the state would not ask Circuit Judge Elmer Roller to order the Braves back to Milwaukee if the National League would provide an expansion franchise to the city next year.

The proposal would give baseball a graceful way out after having been brought to bay in defense of some of its most cherished operational practice—from the granting of franchises to the reserve clause.

It would also provide Milwaukee with a baseball team on a basis which neither the defendant National League nor other courts have considered previously. All of Wisconsin's previous efforts have been directed toward the forced appearance of major league baseball at Milwaukee County Stadium starting on opening day next Tuesday.

Even if the state had demanded the order to bring back the Braves, there is some practical question whether the Braves would play in Milwaukee again this season—or any season.

Roy Franke Wins

Free Throw Title

Roy Franke won this year's intramural free throw tournament.

Franke was tied with Dallas Thompson with 88 shots made out of 100 attempted. In the playoff between the two, Franke won by sinking 44 out of 50, Thompson placed second with 40 out of 50.

Fred Compardo, the winner in 1964 and 1965, finished third.

AFL Will Meet; Foss May Resign

HOUSTON (AP)—A scheduled, but unannounced, American Football League meeting will be held Thursday amid reports that Joe Foss will resign as commissioner and Chicago will become the league's 10th club with George Blanda as head coach.

The reports came in rapid-fire succession Wednesday night when it became known that the league had scheduled a meeting for Thursday but had not made any prior announcement to the press, an unusual procedure.

AFL officials, meanwhile, would not comment on the report that Foss would resign or that Blanda, Houston's veteran quarterback, would become the coach of a new Chicago entry in the league.

The only official comment came from the AFL's assistant commissioner, Milt Woodard, who said the league might announce its next expansion site Thursday.

"We probably will announce the city," Woodard said. "Later on in the year we'll select a group to operate the franchise."

At a league meeting in January, the owners voted to expand by two teams to an 11-team league for the 1967 season. At that time Chicago and the Los Angeles-Anaheim, Calif., area were mentioned as the leading candidates.

A move into either would take the AFL into territory now held by the rival National Football League.

Foreign Students to Speak At YMCA Youth Conference

The second reading of the constitution of the Visiting International Student Association (VISA) club has been postponed from Friday, to 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Final plans will be made to send representatives to the YMCA, Hi Y and Tri Y youth conference with foreign students, scheduled for April 24 at Muckelroy Auditorium.

The conference is arranged to allow high school students to meet and talk with foreign students. Plans are to have small discussion groups with two foreign students in each group. They will answer questions and explain conditions in their countries.

After the discussion period there will be a dance. The Carbondale Community High School dance band will provide the music.

Members of the Department of Recreation and Outdoor Education will lead group dances between regular dances and some members of the Arab Student Association will demonstrate and teach one of their dances.

All foreign students wishing to participate in the program are asked to sign up at the International Student Center.
